EDUCATIONAL CANCER CONVENTION LUGANO

2-4 July 2009
Lugano, Switzerland

LUGANO

In collaboration with

Flims Alumni Club

The European School of Oncology is pleased to announce that ECCLU, the Educational Cancer Convention, will be held in collaboration with the European Society for Medical Oncology and with the Flims Alumni Club in Lugano, Switzerland, from 2 to 4 July 2009.

The programme design has been lead by young oncologists to best meet the educational needs and interests of young oncologists, providing knowledge in the areas where new and important information has become available.

The aim of the Convention is to offer an update on what matters in a concise and efficient manner, offering a refresh meeting to all those who have an established education in oncology. The Convention will also offer the opportunity to understand how knowledge should be applied in practice with the example of clinical cases brought by the participants.
